

Alfie Meek

Alfie has a doctorate in agricultural economics from the University of Georgia, a master's in business economics from Georgia State University, and a bachelor's in economics from Georgia Tech. He joined the County in June 2002 after spending several years on the research faculty of both Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia. Prior to his involvement with these universities, he was the research economist for SunTrust Banks, Inc. Alfie has held a membership in the American Economic Association, and is a current member of the Georgia Economic Developers Association, the National Association for Business Economics, and is a past president of the Atlanta Economics Club. He resides in Suwanee with his wife and two sons.