

NANCY STANBERY-KELLAM, MSLS

Nancy serves as the Executive Director of Gwinnett County Public Library, a position she has held since June 2006. She has been devoted to the public library system for almost 24 years, with over 16 years dedicated to the citizens and future of Gwinnett County. While employed by the Gwinnett County Public Library, Nancy has served in various capacities, from branch manager to community partnership coordinator to business officer, before accepting the Executive Director position.

A graduate of Clarion University of Pennsylvania, Nancy was drawn in part to the library field by her parents, both also working as librarians. Nancy has frequently commented that, "being a librarian is in my blood." She began working for libraries while earning her undergraduate degree from Lourdes College in 1984, finding her first position with Findlay-Hancock County Public Library in Findlay, Ohio before relocating to Georgia in 1985 to work for the Okefenokee Regional Library System.

Nancy is a graduate of Leadership Gwinnett Class of 1997 and has been heavily involved in the community, including Relay for Life, United Way, Buford North Gwinnett Rotary, League of Women Voters, and most recently, Cub Scouts of America.

Nancy is happily married and the proud mother to her beloved ten year old son, James.
